Environmental Law

Environmental law is multifaceted and complex. When a business's activities affect the environment, it often requires a permit, exemption, or other authorization from the government – whether it's a construction permit, nature permit, or water permit. The government also carries out inspections to ensure you comply with the regulations. And you might have to deal with enforcement from the municipality or province, usually performed by the Environment Service in practice.

Property Law

Our property specialists are fully versed in environmental law and civil property law. The financial interests in the property are often enormous and the regulations complex. So, solid legal assistance and practical advice is of the utmost importance.

Sanctions & Penalties

Companies and institutions are increasingly faced with fines from various supervisory authorities. Not only can the Public Prosecutor act as an enforcement authority, but so too can regulators such as the Netherlands Authority for Consumers and Markets, the Dutch Data Protection Authority, the Netherlands Authority for the Financial Markets, De Nederlandsche Bank, and the Social Affairs & Employment Inspection. And this is increasingly being used as a resort, with fines even being imposed on individuals.

Procurement law

Competition is essential for a healthy and innovative economy. But to ensure that everything is fair, parties must play by the rules of the game. Both procurement law and competition law play a major role in this.

Waste & Recycling

Human activity produces waste products. You don't need us to tell you that. But every year, we generate dozens of billions of kilos of waste. Fortunately, in recent years, we have started to rethink the way we dispose of waste, and now prefer to reuse and recycle, rather than send to landfill and for incineration.

Gaming

We are the only full-service team in the Netherlands to specialize in the legal issues involved in the gaming industry. We take into account your goals and the rapidly changing and highly competitive market.

Construction & Housing

For a while now, construction has been picking up pace and the property market becoming more appealing. Economic growth is increasing demand for new homes, utility buildings, and infrastructure. More and more properties are being rented out and invested in. Yet, tenants are increasingly seeking flexibility and no longer want to commit to a long lease period. As a result, location, marketability, and potential use are becoming increasingly important for property investors.

Healthcare

Our Healthcare team includes lawyers with various areas of expertise. Together, they combine their knowledge and experience and apply it to the real-life issues experienced by health care providers and health care entrepreneurs. Whether health care procurement, governance, complaints and disputes, collaboration or demergers, restructuring, the Senior Executives in the Public and Semi-Public Sector (Standards for Remuneration) Act (WNT), innovation, or privacy aspects: our industry team knows the ins and outs of your challenges.

Finance

Our Finance industry team is dedicated to all players who are active in the financial sector. We are more than familiar with the playing field where accountants, tax consultants, notaries, and corporate finance advisors operate. Not only do we know the disciplinary law applicable to several of these service providers, but we also understand their technical framework.
